BEAUTYPRO®

Inspired by His Majesty King Bhumibol Adulyadej (King Rama IX), revered as the supreme artist whose lifelong dedication uplifted Thai agriculture, SILPIN was created to transform Thailand's finest harvests into masterpieces of flavour. It is in his honour that the name SILPIN—Thai for “artist”—was chosen, reflecting artistry at the heart of every creation. Guided also by King Chulalongkorn (King Rama V), who first introduced Siam to the world, SILPIN carries forward this legacy by bringing authentic Thai flavours to the world through Premium Syrup, Edible Perfume, and Gastronomic Oil.

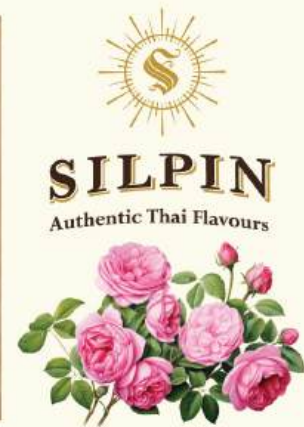

A Treasure Beyond Flavour

SILPIN is more than flavour. Every bottle supports Thai agriculturalists by elevating local crops into premium products, preserving traditions while communities thrive. With no equivalent anywhere in the world, SILPIN stands as the one and only brand fully dedicated to authentic Thai flavours, embodying a story, a legacy, and the essence of Thailand. Experience Thailand from a new perspective, where authentic Thai flavours are reimagined in creative cocktails, mocktails, coffee, tea, desserts, and culinary delights. Each SILPIN creation is crafted as an extraordinary indulgence or a timeless gift—a true celebration of Thailand's heritage and ingenuity, perfect to take home for yourself or to give as a cherished gift, a treasure unlike any other.

SILPIN : Authentic Thai Flavours,
A Treasure To Take Home

Chulalongkorn Rose: SILPIN's Signature Tribute

SILPIN's signature 'Chulalongkorn Rose' honours the enduring love of Princess Dara Rasmi, consort of King Chulalongkorn, who named a fragrant pink rose 'Chulalongkorn' and cultivated it around her home in memory of her husband. SILPIN 'Chulalongkorn Rose' embodies elegance and romantic heritage, capturing the story and essence of this iconic rose in every bottle.

Stories in Every Flavour

Each flavour tells a story and represents a region of Thailand. Chulalongkorn Rose from the northern highlands is a symbol of the North's grace and romance. Thai Jasmine Rice hails from the fertile rice fields of the Northeast. Waan-Jai, a lemongrass-lychee blend crafted exclusively for Thai Airways International, reflects the richness of the Central plains. Mango Sticky Rice evokes the East, home to the sweetest mangoes of Thailand. The fragrant Royal Kaffir Lime Leaf represents the South, a key ingredient in Southern Thai cuisine that imparts a vibrant tropical note. Through these creations, SILPIN offers a sensory journey across Thailand's flavours.

SILPIN's Chulalongkorn Rose syrup is featured in 'Rose of the Royal Voyage' (RRV), a spritz-style cocktail made with champagne, while the Waan-Jai syrup, a lychee and lemongrass blend created exclusively for THAI, is used in 'Oriental Dawn', a cognac-based cocktail crafted by The Bamboo Bar at Mandarin Oriental Bangkok to celebrate the airline's 65th anniversary. Both cocktails are served in THAI's Royal First and Royal Silk Class, offering a taste of royal luxury in the sky.

PAKISTAN THE HIDDEN KINGDOM OF LIGHT

From majestic mountainscapes to wind-swept valleys, here's why Pakistan deserves a spot on your travel bucket list in 2026.

▲ Karakoram Range, famous for its stunning lakes like Lower Kachura Lake, also known as Shangrila Lake

There are places in the world that exist as a door to otherworldly beauty, where earth reaches skyward with such ferocity that the air itself feels hallowed. Pakistan is one such realm, a land where legends breathe through mountain passes and time moves to the rhythm of glacier-fed rivers. From the moment you step off your Thai Airways flight, everything feels familiar yet entirely new. From cuisine and cultural gems to ethereal natural beauty, Pakistan welcomes you with open arms and promises to leave its mark long after you've left.

If you seek a journey that transcends the ordinary without the hassle of planning all the details yourself, Royal Orchid Holidays offers thoughtfully curated experiences throughout Pakistan, bringing Thai Airways' legendary hospitality to these extraordinary landscapes.

▲ Hussaini Suspension Bridge

YOUR GATEWAY TO THE CLOUDS

Rightly called the gateway to the world's highest peaks, the capital city of Islamabad is cradled by the Margalla Hills, rife with hiking trails and rich biodiversity. Home to architectural landmarks such as the Pakistan Monument, Islamabad also flaunts natural beauty at every turn, including majestic mountain peaks like Nanga Parbat. Speaking of roads to rugged hills, Skardu International Airport delivers you into the lap of the Karakoram Range, where K2, the world's second-highest mountain, pierces the heavens with unforgiving beauty. The most scenic road trip of all awaits at Karakoram Highway, the highest paved international road in the world starting from Islamabad to Kashgar in China's Xinjiang region.

FORTRESSES MEET THE SKY

In Shigar Village, quaint stone homes cling to hillsides and villagers greet you with a hospitality that feels like coming home. The restored Shigar Fort stands sentinel, its wooden beams and carved balconies speaking of a heritage that predates maps. Beyond, the Sarfanga Cold Desert unfolds in ripples of sand and snow in winter, a high-altitude mirage where dunes meet glaciers in surreal embrace, bordered by stunning mountain views. The vistas alone are a siren call for nature-lovers.

VALLEY OF ETERNAL SPRING

But winter is no match for spring, especially where Hunza Valley is concerned. Its verdant apricot blossoms explode against impossibly blue skies, and communities whose longevity has mystified scientists for generations tend terraced fields with ancestral care. Gilgit, where the mighty Indus carves its ancient course, stays true to its place as a crossroads where cultures collide and centuries-old bazaars still pulse with the rhythm of Silk Road traders.

The Old Silk Road, connecting Asia with Europe and North Africa, still whispers of caravans and spice-laden dreams. At Rakaposhi Viewpoint, the 7,788-meter peak rises with such sudden verticality it defies comprehension, almost like a wall of ice and rock that defies physics itself.

WHERE SPICE MEETS SOUL

The city of Lahore is a culinary haven for street food. At Muhammadi Nehari House, the city's legendary nihari, slow-cooked meat in thick, spiced gravy enriched with bone marrow, arrives garnished with chilies, ginger, and lemon. Street corners overflow with halwa puri breakfasts, sizzling karahi curries, and lassi made from buffalo milk churned by hand. This is Pakistan's beating gastronomic heart.

LIGHT ON STONE

Karimabad's markets pulse with the vibrant chaos of mountain life: hand-woven textiles, hammered copper, stories traded over cups of salted tea and walnut cakes at idyllic spots like Cafe de Hunza. At Duiker Viewpoint, just 30 minutes outside of Karimabad, sunsets paint the peaks in molten gold, making for truly exceptional photo moments.

Hopper Valley guards its glaciers jealously, while Attabad Lake shimmers in impossible turquoise, nature's accidental masterpiece born from a catastrophic landslide 15 years ago. Altit Fort, recognized by UNESCO, once abandoned and now thriving with life, reveals the sophisticated mountain engineering of Hunza royalty. Imagine enjoying views of this ancient fort from a cosy teahouse in winter or from a quaint cafe serving up local Hunza cuisine and vistas of golden apricot trees in autumn.

CATHEDRAL OF PEAKS

Passu Village sits beneath the Passu Cones, those sharp cathedral spires that pierce the sky like frozen flames. The Rainbow Bridge arcs gracefully, while the Hussaini Suspension Bridge tests courage with its weathered planks swaying above rushing waters, an adventure-seeker's adrenaline-filled dream come true.

While onboard your flight to this transformative destination, you will find Thai Sky Shop's in-flight catalogue of travel essentials to elevate your trip: Nescens Rehydrating Face and Lip Care set for the chilly mountain air, Armani's 'My Way' Eau de Parfum for that vibrant, floral scent, Ray-Ban sunglasses for high-altitude clarity, and Calvin Klein Linked bracelet set as your talisman of elegance. Whether for last minute travel needs or gifts for a loved one at home, there will be something within the thoughtfully curated catalogue to enhance your travel.
